We are looking at the possibility of having an official launch of Boston Carnival Village, LLC. If all goes well with our potential sponsor you folks will be hearing more in the coming weeks.

We are in the final stages of announcing the location, time and date of the next launching of "Streets of Color" if you missed it last year, we hope to see you there

This weekend we will be heading out to Washington, for their carnival celebration. We are making connections and growing the family, so if all goes well, there will be lots of information and photographs next report. Oh yea we will be doing Panorama in New York this year. We are doing as much pan thing to prepare for my next exhibition, tentatively titled "Steelpan University" P.S. I am looking for contributors for this project – do you have any unique knowledge of the Steelpan or know of books published or online outlets where we can purchase books and videos send me that information at info@BostonCarnivalVillage.com (Michael C...)

So until next DeCVN stay safe and continue to support the culture.
Peace
